

I. Table .....	7
II. Table of Abbreviations.....	9
III. Table of Illustrations.....	11
IV. List of Tables.....	12
1. The difficulty to assess human resources in the civil service .....	17
2. Human Resource Accounting .....	19
2.1 Definition of “Human Resources” and “Human Resource Accounting” .....	19
2.2 Origins and distribution of Human Resource Accounting .....	21
3. Methods of Human Resource Accounting.....	27
3.1 Input-oriented Human Resource Accounting Methods .....	29
3.1.1 Historical Cost Method .....	30
3.1.2 Replacement Cost Method.....	34
3.1.3 Opportunity Cost Method .....	377
3.1.4 Valuation on Future Costs .....	39
3.1.4.1 The Adjusted Discounted Future Wages Model.....	40
3.1.4.2 Method of Future Earnings .....	42
3.2 Output-oriented Human Resource Accounting Methods .....	46
3.2.1 The Goodwill Method.....	46
3.2.2 Assessment Based on Future Performance .....	48
3.2.2.1 Method of Future Contributions to Performance .....	48
3.2.2.1.1 Method of Future Contributions without Hierarchy Levels.....	49
3.2.2.1.2 The Stochastic Rewards Valuation Model .....	50
3.2.2.2 The Behavioral Model .....	52
4. Status Quo and requirements regarding a Human Resource Accounting System in the German land Hesse .....	57
4.1 Status Quo of Human Resource Accounting in Hesse’s Civil Service .....	57
4.2 Current Requirements of Hesse’s State Administration concerning Human Resource Accounting .....	60
4.2.1 Improved Employee Appreciation .....	60
4.2.2 Improved Illustration of Hesse’s Assets in accounting.....	61
4.2.3 Cost Transparency in the Value Chain of the HR Department .....	61
4.2.4 Qualification-oriented Staff Employment .....	62
4.2.5 The Creation of an Objective Assessment Basis for Promotions and for Incentive Bonuses.....	63
4.3 General Requirements for Human Resource Accounting .....	64

4.3.1 Objectivity .....	64
4.3.2 Reliability .....	65
4.3.3 Validity .....	65
4.3.4 Practicability.....	65
4.3.5 Efficiency .....	65
4.4 Stakeholders' Demands .....	65
4.4.1 Executive Managers .....	66
4.4.2 Employees .....	66
4.4.3 Tax Payers .....	68
4.4.4 Customers .....	68
4.4.5 Politicians .....	69
4.4.6 Employers .....	69
4.5 The Gap between Demand and Reality regarding Human Resource Accounting in Hesse's State Administration .....	70
5. Suitable Methods of Human Resource Accounting in the Public Service .....	71
5.1 Historical Cost Method .....	72
5.2 Replacement Cost Method .....	74
5.3 Opportunity Cost Method .....	77
5.4 The Adjusted Discounted Future Wages Model.....	77
5.5 Method of Future Earnings .....	79
5.6 The Goodwill Method .....	82
5.7 Method of Contributions to Performance .....	83
5.7.1 The Method of Future Contributions without Hierarchy Levels .....	83
5.7.2 Stochastic Rewards Valuation Model.....	84
5.8 The Behavioral Model .....	85
6. Applying Human Resource Accounting Methods in the Civil Service.....	89
6.1 The Legal Framework .....	89
6.1.1 Provisions regarding the Protection of Personal Data .....	89
6.1.2 Staff Council Provisions .....	91
6.1.3 Budget Provisions .....	93
6.2 Requirements for implementation.....	95
6.2.1 Convocation of a Project Team.....	96
6.2.2 The Establishment of a Pilot Project.....	96
6.2.3 Review and Adjustment of the Original Concept.....	97
6.2.4 Broad Integration of HRA-Methods into the Public Sector .....	97
6.2.5 Supply of Financial Resources.....	97
6.2.6 Convincing Employees .....	98
6.2.7 The Supply of a suitable Software System .....	98
6.3 Structural Recommendations .....	99
7. Closing Remarks .....	101
V. Bibliography .....	103