

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	7
Table of Contents	9
Alexander L. Gungov
Foreword to the ibidem Press Edition	13
Alexander L. Gungov
Foreword: Is This the Right Time to Ponder Beckett and Philosophy?	15
Matthew Feldman
Introduction to Beckett/Philosophy	23
Matthew Feldman
“I am not a philosopher.” Beckett and Philosophy: A Methodological and Thematic Overview	35
Donald Phillip Verene
On Vico, Joyce, and Beckett	51
Erik Tønning
“I am not reading philosophy”: Beckett and Schopenhauer	75
David Addyman
“Speak of Time, without Flinching... Treat of Space with the Same Easy Grace”: Beckett, Bergson and the Philosophy of Space	103
Peter Fifield
“Of being—or remaining”: Beckett and Early Greek Philosophy	127

Matthew Feldman

Samuel Beckett, Wilhelm Windelband and Nominalist Philosophy 151

Chris Ackerley

Monadology: Samuel Beckett
and Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz 185

Steven Matthews

“The Books are in the Study as Before”: Samuel Beckett’s Berkeley 211

David Tucker

Beckett’s “Guignol” Worlds:
Arnold Geulincx and Heinrich von Kleist 235

P.J. Murphy

Beckett’s Critique of Kant 261

Dirk Van Hulle

“Eff it”: Beckett and Linguistic Skepticism 279

Emilie Morin

Beckett, Samuel Johnson, and the “Vacuity of Life” 299

Charlotta Palmstierna Einarsson

Beckett and Abstraction 325

Kathryn White

“I can’t go on, I’ll go on”: Beckett’s Form of Philosophy 341

Mireille Bousquet

Beckett and the Refusal of Judgment:
The Question of Ethics and the Value of Art 359

Karim Mamdani

Conclusion: Beckett in Theses	379
Information about the Authors and Editors	395
Index of Names	397