

Contents

Foreword: The Russian Path – From Enigma to an Understanding
Vladimir Ryzhkov	7
Introduction	13
Chapter 1
The Major Ideas of Russian Reforms	21
Orthodox-Communist Ideas	21
Reformist-Socialist Ideas.....	26
Market-Capitalist Ideas.....	31
National-Patriotic and Imperial Ideas	35
In Lieu of Conclusions	40
Chapter 2
The Process of Reforms and the Influence of Interest Groups..	43
The Economic Reform of Perestroika.....	44
Yeltsin and Gaidar’s Economic Reforms	51
Problems of the Post-Reform Economy in Russia.....	62
Intermediate Conclusions.....	71
Chapter 3
The Historical Path and the Slowdown of Changes	73
A Patient More Dead than Alive	73
A Patient More Alive than Dead	83
Not an Ordinary, but a Permanent Revolution	90
The NEP in Hostile Surroundings.....	100
Chapter 4
The Reforms of the 1990s and Modern Institutions	111
The Law Enforcement System in Present-day Russia	111
“Expropriation of the Expropriators” in a New Way.....	118

The Consequences of Inefficient Institutions for Russia	125
A Post-Communist Mafia State	127
The Predominance of State Paternalism.....	133
Chapter 5
Public Illusions and Russian Realities.....	137
Illusions of the Past.....	138
A New Era, New Illusions.....	144
The Crimean Problem	149
The Empire’s “Divorce” with the Nation.....	152
Chapter 6
Bad Governance in Russia: A Vicious Circle?.....	157
Introduction: Russia’s Greatest Rent Machine	158
Bad Governance in the Making	163
“Bad Governance”: Why?.....	167
The Long Arm of the Past?	170
The Power Vertical as a Mechanism of Bad Governance.....	175
Chapter 7
Policy versus Politics: Technocratic Traps of
Post-Soviet Reform.....	183
The Technocratic Trap: Dictators, “Viziers”
and “Eunuchs”	185
The Origins of Post-Soviet Technocracy.....	192
Technocracy at Work: Reforms in the Crossfire	197
“Borrowing” and “Cultivating” Institutions:
Any Possibility of Success?.....	207
Alternatives to Technocracy: from Bad to Worse?.....	218
Conclusion	223