

Contents

Preface..... 7

Introduction: The “Globalization” and “De-colonization” of the Social Sciences11

Globalization 11

De-colonization 17

1. The “Globalization” of the Social Sciences—the Introduction of Nationalist Thinking into Social Science Thinking..... 23

1.1 Social sciences before their “globalization”:
Idealizations of citizen societies and their state..... 26

1.2 Globalized theories—nationalistic self-portraits of states 49

1.3 Comments on life in the world of national citizen societies and its social sciences legends72

2. The Final Worldwide Enforcement of the Social Science of the Citizen Society through its “De-colonization” 89

2.1 The adoption of the knowledge concept of social sciences in the former colonized world through the critique of “Eurocentrism” 92

2.2 The place of thinking as the “contextual” source of knowledge106

2.3 From the critique of capitalism to its anti-critique
—from Marx to Heidegger 124

3.	Indigenous Knowledge—Contributions to the Ideological Armament of States.....	141
3.1	State self-portraits of indigenous knowledge.....	141
3.2	Indigenized Knowledge in global discourse.....	154
3.3	How the de-colonized social sciences view the world of science—and its ideological harvests.....	169
4.	The Final Scientific Highlights of the Masterminds of Globalized Post-colonial Thinking	179
4.1	Imperialisms as a methodological instrument of social science theory-building	181
4.2	Imperial theories—for morally clean wars	188
5.	Old and New Mistakes and Their Sources: Theoretical Legacies of the Globalization and Decolonization Debates under the Preparatory Work of HistoMat	199