

Contents

Preface to the Second Edition	ix
1. Listening for the Mediated Voices of the Southern African Khoisan in Hendrik's Dwaalstories: Ironies and Wonders	1
2. Marecheran Postmodernism: Mocking the Bad Joke of "African Modernity"	21
3. Anomy and Agony in a Nation in Crisis: Soyinka's Season of Anomy	45
4. Finding Foundations for Change in Bessie Head's The Cardinals	59
5. Blood Gets a Voice: Unity Dow's The Screaming of the Innocent	75
6. Two Late Apartheid-Era Novels: Balancing the Books in the South African Present	85
7. Mongane Serote's To Every Birth Its Blood: Painting the True Colours of Apartheid	111
8. Shakespeare, (Fanon,) Salih: Can the Black Man Love the White Woman? Can the White Woman Love the Black Man?	135
9. A. C. Jordan's Tales From Southern Africa	159
10. Memory, Power and Bessie Head: A Question of Power	173
11. Patterns of Leadership in Bessie Head's Maru and A Bewitched Crossroad: An African Saga	191
12. "Barbarism" and "Civilisation" in Shakespeare's Titus Andronicus and in Marechera's Black Sunlight	211
13. Farah's Sweet and Sour Milk: The Noise in the Dictator's Ear	225
14. Performances, Ethics and Aesthetics of Wealth in African Literary Depiction	249
15. Three Takes on Somali Womanhood in the Eddies of the Contemporary Black Atlantic Context	277

16. Achebe's Children: Resonance, Poignance and Grandeur	305
Acknowledgements	329