

Table of Contents

| | |
|--|-----------|
| Table of Contents | 5 |
| Acknowledgements | 7 |
| Preface | 9 |
| Social thought in social sciences | 11 |
| Chapter A: The world's social in social science thinking ... | 21 |
| Social sciences detect the world's social beyond the national biotopes..... | 21 |
| ...by assembling theories about nation state social biotopes..... | 27 |
| ...off-thinking the world's social..... | 30 |
| ... and idealize the nation state constructs of the secluded national socials..... | 42 |
| ...ever critically measured against idealized nation state rationales..... | 45 |
| The universalisation of social science thinking..... | 48 |
|completing the globalisation of social science theorizing as a multiplicity of scientific patriotisms | 52 |
| From Marx to Heidegger: Critical theorizing in the anti-colonial movements—self-purified for constructive imperial nation state views | 58 |
| ...opposing a monopoly on spatiological thought in the "centres"..... | 64 |
| ...off-thinking scientificity for creating patriotic theories | 68 |
| ... and anti-scientificity to practice global social sciences | 74 |
| From patriotic to imperial social science thinking | 76 |
| The scientific service of nationalism: Without nationalism— no imperial thought..... | 82 |
| ...thought back by alternative imperial science models | 86 |
| ...critiquing an unequal imperialism..... | 89 |
| The world's nation states serving the world's mankind | 92 |
| Chapter B: Categorical essentials of disciplinary thinking | 95 |
| The cognitive architecture of disciplinary thinking | 97 |
| Essential concepts founding theorizing in the classical social science disciplines | 105 |
| Anthropology—Regimen as the demand of man's nature | 106 |
| From anthropological thinking to cultural theories— nation states as cultural artefacts completing man's unfinished nature..... | 116 |
| Economic thinking in the social sciences— The bane of scarcity | 121 |

| | |
|--|------------|
| Sociological thinking—The blessing of the "community"..... | 126 |
| Political theory—political power for the politically disempowered..... | 134 |
| Psychological thinking—the mythologization of the mind..... | 138 |
| Essentials of social sciences disciplinary thinking | 146 |
| 1. The cognitive lie founding the categories of disciplinary thinking..... | 146 |
| 2. The shared metaphysical nature of the disciplines and their speculative way of theorizing | 149 |
| 3. Disciplinary social thought cannot think other about the social but as nation state social | 152 |
| 4. The categorical essentials: Critically affirmative and idealistically domesticative..... | 153 |
| 5. The world's social in disciplinary thinking—absent..... | 156 |
| Chapter C: The social science approach to scientific thinking | 159 |
| Introduction..... | 159 |
| The social science mode of cognition..... | 163 |
| Social sciences theorizing about social science thinking..... | 168 |
| Why preoccupied thinking must be the nature of thinking | 176 |
| The stigma of the natural sciences— and the self-destruction of an envied hero | 181 |
| The envied hero..... | 182 |
| ...and his self-destruction | 185 |
| The decline of scientific knowledge towards ephemeral knowledge | 189 |
| Chapter D:Social sciences in discourse | 199 |
| The discursive creation of acknowledged knowledge..... | 200 |
| Acknowledged knowledge in the global social science discourse | 207 |
| Global discourse about acknowledged knowledge ruling social science theorizing | 209 |
| Arguing about the position national knowledge bodies hold..... | 214 |
| The progress of acknowledged knowledge | 218 |
| How to create a globally shared truth ruling global theorizing..... | 224 |
| The ephemeral progress of ephemeral knowledge..... | 244 |
| Chapter E: Going beyond the social sciences | 251 |
| Postscript | 257 |