

Contents

| | |
|---|----|
| Foreword: A Hologram of Our Present By Slavoj Žižek | 11 |
| Preface: Pyropolitics Reborn | 15 |
| Kindling: The World on Fire | 21 |
| Chapter 1. | |
| The ABC of Pyropolitics, or the 'Elemental Regimes' of Carl Schmitt .. | 33 |
| 1.1. The Idea of Elemental Politics | 33 |
| 1.2. The Elements, Nomos and Anomie | 37 |
| 1.3. Through Air to Fire..... | 43 |
| 1.4. Pyropolitics and Spatial Imaginary | 47 |
| 1.5. Toward a Pyropolitical Phenomenology | 50 |
| 1.6. The Risk of Pyropolitics | 54 |
| Chapter 2. | |
| Light without Heat, Heat without Light, and the Problem of Evil | 59 |
| 2.1. The Cold Light of the Enlightenment | 59 |
| 2.2. The Two "Powers" of Fire | 61 |
| 2.3. Dark Heat, or Evil from the Perspective of the Enlightenment..... | 64 |
| 2.4. The Substance, of Which Evil Is Made..... | 68 |
| 2.5. Absolute Separation and Evil..... | 70 |
| 2.6. A New Synthesis of Light and Heat?..... | 75 |
| Chapter 3. | |
| Pyropolitical Theology I: The Fires of Revolution | 79 |
| 3.1. Flying Sparks..... | 79 |
| 3.2. A Flaming Ideal..... | 82 |
| 3.3. The Inflammations of Revolutionary Spirit | 85 |
| 3.4. Hegel on Fire | 89 |

| | |
|--|-----|
| 3.5. Revolutionary Alchemy | 98 |
| 3.6. Catching Fire, or How Revolutions Spread | 102 |
| Chapter 4. | |
| Pyropolitical Theology II: The Politics of Sacrifice | 107 |
| 4.1. A Theology of Burnt Offerings | 107 |
| 4.2. Self-Immolation and Sovereignty | 112 |
| 4.3. An Interlude: Extremist Politics..... | 126 |
| 4.4. On Holocausts, or Burnt Offerings at the Extreme | 129 |
| 4.5. The Burning Question of the Inquisition..... | 140 |
| 4.6. Global Energy Production, or ‘What Do They Salvage from the Great Fire of Life?’ | 146 |
| Chapter 5. | |
| The End of Heliotropic Utopias: When the Sun Sets on the City upon the Hill | 155 |
| 5.1. Around the Sun(s) | 155 |
| 5.2. Heliocentric Unity and Its Discontents | 159 |
| 5.3. The Solar Fetish of the Empire | 164 |
| 5.4. A Shining City upon a Hill: The Pyropolitical Sublime.. | 169 |
| 5.5. Westernisation, Nihilism, and the Setting Sun | 174 |
| 5.6. Coda: Politics of Fire and Sexual Difference | 178 |
| Chapter 6. | |
| Around the Hearth: Politics in the Kitchen | 185 |
| 6.1. The Power of the Hearth, or the Domestication of Politics | 185 |
| 6.2. The Inner Fire of the ‘Kitchen Cabinet’ | 190 |
| 6.3. What’s Cooking in the Melting Pot? | 196 |
| 6.4. In Search of Perfection: The Arts of Cooking and Politics | 201 |
| 6.5. Revolutionary and Post-Revolutionary Political Kitchens..... | 207 |
| 6.6. Consuming Ourselves: Pyropolitical Cannibalism..... | 213 |

| | |
|---|-----|
| Extinguishing: The Politics of Ashes | 217 |
| Appendix..... | 233 |
| Fiery Words: Against the Literal / Metaphorical Divide | 233 |
| A Shadow Sun | 242 |
| Burning Ourselves to Death | 249 |
| The Implosion of History | 254 |
| Kant's Fire | 259 |
| A New Shape of Pyropolitics | 269 |
| Notes..... | 273 |