

Contents

The Sonderkommando Photographs.....	7
Saul Friedländer and the Future of Holocaust Historiography .....	29
Race Science, Race Mysticism and the Racial State .....	53
The Memory of the Archive: The International Tracing Service and the Construction of the Past as History .....	83
‘The Greatest Detective Story in History’: The BBC, the International Tracing Service, and the Memory of Nazi Crimes in Early Postwar Britain .....	121
Romania and the Jews in the BBC Monitoring Service Reports, 1938-1948 .....	155
‘Somehow the pathetic dumb suffering of these elderly people moves me more than anything’: Caring for Elderly Holocaust Survivors in the Immediate Postwar Years .....	187
The Course of History: Arno J. Mayer, Gerhard L. Weinberg and David Cesarani on the Holocaust and World War II .....	223
Belsen and the British .....	257
The Politics of Removing Children: The International Tracing Service’s German Foster Homes Investigation of 1948 .....	289

Survival through Stupor: Eddy de Wind and Early-Postwar Psychoanalytic Studies of the Nazi Concentration Camps .....	327
The Two Faces of the 'Final Solution': Popular Holocaust Memory and Holocaust Historiography .....	359
Rebecca Jinks and Dan Stone, Interview, London, 21 January 2026 .....	389