

Contents

Acknowledgements	IX
1 Introduction: Maritime business in landlocked Czechoslovakia as a research topic	1
1.1 This book's dockyard: a brief account of the information sources	5
2 Prologue: First attempts to run the maritime business after World War I	11
3 1950s: From the foundation of the People's Republic of China to the foundation of the Czechoslovak Ocean Shipping company	19
3.1 The economic Cold War and its impacts on Czechoslovakia	19
3.2 The People's Republic of China comes into play	22
3.3 The first "independent" attempts to establish a Czechoslovak merchant fleet	25
3.4 The Republika—the first ship owned by the Czechoslovak state	28
3.5 The top secret protocol on cooperation in shipping with the People's Republic of China	37
3.6 Communist China's ship with a Czechoslovak communist hero's name	41
3.7 Flourishing cooperation with communist China	46
3.8 Czechoslovak Ocean Shipping Ltd.	54
3.9 Financial results in the 1950s	57

4	1960s: From the Caribbean Crisis to the mutiny on the ship Kladno	61
4.1	Czechoslovaks need more ships	64
4.2	The People's Republic of China does not need more ships	66
4.3	"Why do you yield to US imperialism?" (end of cooperation with the PRC)	71
4.4	The last third of the 1960s—the development of an exclusively Czechoslovak shipping	77
4.5	Financial results in the 1960s	80
4.6	1968: "We dreaded that they would requisition our ships"	83
5	1970s: The transition from ideological tasks to business tasks	91
5.1	Détente in abroad, "normalization" at home	91
5.2	The company's performance after the suppression of the Prague Spring	101
5.3	Financial results in the 1970s	111
6	1980s: From a drop in earnings to fleet renewal	115
6.1	The company as an object of counterintelligence interests	115
6.2	Problems in the Soviet bloc, problems in the COS	123
6.3	Perestroika and the first (un)successful business attempts in shipping	129
6.4	Financial results in the 1980s	137
7	Epilogue: Czechoslovak and Czech maritime business after the Velvet Revolution	141

8	Seafarers' lives and memories	151
8.1	"Work on the sea is simply different" (an overview of seafarers' professions)	153
8.2	"One had to decide" (the impacts of the communist regime on ocean shipping)	164
8.3	"Is the sea salty? I really wanted to know!" (travelling and emigration)	171
8.4	"To make some extra money" (salaries and black marketeering)	175
8.5	"His wife sailed around the world with him" (family travelling)	183
8.6	"She went never nuts, she always toughed it out" (the family life of the seafarer)	187
8.7	"She was my sweetheart in Canada" (women, men and lovers)	189
8.8	"Surrounded by creature comforts on the ship" (life on the ship)	191
9	Ship memoirs	197
10	Conclusion: Four decades of Czechoslovak shipping in a nutshell	243
	List of archival resources and interviews	251
	Summary in Czech and German	269