

Table of Contents

Introduction Andrea Gremels, Maren Scheurer, Frank Schulze-Engler and Jarula M.I. Wegner	7
Survival of the Fittest, or, What Is a Classic? J.M. Coetzee, Aesthetic Darwinism and World Literature Maren Scheurer	31
“Tilting Camus Sideways”: Intertextual Entanglements between Albert Camus’s L’Étranger and Kamel Daoud’s Meursault, contre- enquête Delphine Munos	59
Transareal Cities and Literatures Without a Fixed Abode in Assia Djebar, Emine Sevgi Özdamar and Cécile Wajsbrot Ottmar Ette	86
Heterodox Maps of World Literature and South-to-South Dialogue in Caribbean Writing Jan Rupp	125
Movements, Diasporas, Entanglements: Traces of the Brazil- Angola Slave Trade in Contemporary Voices Eduardo Jorge de Oliveira and Ana Sobral	149
Re-Envisioning Surrealism from Argentina and Mexico: Julio Cortázar’s Teoría del túnel and Octavio Paz’s El arco y la lira Andrea Gremels	177
Alternative Modernities, Magical Realism and World Literatures of the Global South Maggie Ann Bowers	209
What’s in a World? Rerouting World Literature with Lotus and the Afro-Asian Writers’ Association Lucy Gasser	235
Bwana Goethe and the Remaking of World Literature: Afrasian Imaginaries in M.G. Vassanji’s The Magic of Saida Frank Schulze-Engler	267
Notes on Contributors	305