

Contents

Foreword by Andrey Makarychev	9
1 Introduction.....	11
1.1 Contextualizing the Relationships between Patron and De Facto States: The Cases of Transnistria and Abkhazia in Russian Foreign Policy	18
1.1.1 Secession, External Patronage and Hierarchical Modeling.....	19
1.1.2 The Significance of Bargaining in Russia’s Strategy toward Post-Soviet Secessionist Movements.....	26
1.1.2.1 Russia’s Relationship with Transnistria: Framing the Context of Geopolitics, Identity and Hierarchical Alignment	28
1.1.2.2 Russia’s Relationship with Abkhazia: Synergizing Conferral of Statehood and Integration into the Kremlin-Centric Political Order	31
1.1.3 Contribution and Added Value	34
1.2 Operationalization and Research Hypotheses.....	35
1.3 Research Outline.....	40
2 Hierarchy and Bargaining in International Relations.....	43
2.1 Introduction.....	43
2.2 Hierarchy as an Authoritative Relationship between Ruler and Ruled	46
2.2.1 Categories of Hierarchy in the International System.....	47
2.2.1.1 Security Hierarchies	50
2.2.1.2 Economic Hierarchies	52
2.2.1.3 Cultural Hierarchies	54
2.3 Relational Contracting in International Hierarchies.....	55
2.3.1 Incentives	59

2.3.2	Interests and Preferences	61
2.3.3	Legitimization Criteria of the Political Order: Performance, Procedures and Principles	64
2.3.4	The Creation of the Social Contract and Renegotiations	68
2.4	Bargaining and Social Contracts	70
2.4.1	Bargaining Power	75
2.4.2	Bargaining Code and Signaling Behavior	78
2.4.3	Availability of Alternatives	85
2.4.4	Alignment, Social Contract and Renegotiation of the Bargains	87
3	Research Methodology	93
3.1	Objective 1: Illustrating the Contemporary Status Quo ..	95
3.1.1	Data Selection	96
3.1.2	Research Method and Analytical Parameters: Qualitative Content Analysis	99
3.1.2.1	Hierarchy	99
3.1.2.2	Net Benefits	102
3.1.2.3	Legitimization Criteria of the Social Contract ..	102
3.2	Objective 2: Illustrating the Positions of the Involved Actors	105
3.2.1	Data Selection	106
3.2.2	Research Method and Analytical Parameters: Qualitative Content Analysis	107
3.2.2.1	Interests and Preferences	108
3.2.2.2	Incentives	109
3.3	Objective 3: Reconstructing the Development of the Bargaining Outcomes	110
3.3.1	Data Selection	110
3.3.2	Research Method and Analytical Parameters: Process-Tracing	113
3.3.2.1	Bargaining Power	114
3.3.2.2	Signaling Behavior and Bargaining Code	116

4	Transnistria.....	119
	4.1 Introduction.....	119
	4.2 Historical Overview	121
	4.3 Status Quo of the Russian–Transnistrian Social Contracting Dynamics	128
	4.4 Russia and Transnistria’s Positions in the Pre-Bargaining Stage	131
	4.4.1 Transnistria’s Position	132
	4.4.2 Russia’s Position.....	133
	4.5 Bargaining Interactions between Transnistria and Russia	135
	4.5.1 OGRF Deployments to Transnistria	137
	4.5.2 Attempts of Federalizing Moldova’s Constitutional Order: Moscow Memorandum (1997) and Kozak Memorandum (2003).....	143
	4.5.3 The Internationalization of Conflict Resolution	147
	4.5.4 Economic Engagement.....	150
	4.5.5 Cultural Alignment with the Russkii Mir	154
	4.6 Conclusion.....	157
5	Abkhazia.....	163
	5.1 Introduction.....	163
	5.2 Historical Overview	167
	5.3 Status Quo of the Russian–Abkhaz Social Contracting Dynamics	176
	5.4 Abkhazia and Russia’s Positions in the Pre-Bargaining Stage.....	181
	5.4.1 Abkhazia’s Position	182
	5.4.2 Russia’s Position.....	184
	5.5 Bargaining Interactions between Abkhazia and Russia	187

5.5.1	Russia’s Security Reassurances: Russian Troop Deployment at the 7 th Military Base in Gudauta and the Common Defense and Security Space.....	189
5.5.2	The GID and the Internationalization of Conflict Settlement.....	197
5.5.3	Economic Engagement.....	201
5.5.4	Cultural Alignment with the Russkii Mir	209
5.6	Conclusion.....	212
6	Comparison and Conclusion.....	217
6.1	Introduction.....	217
6.2	Assessing the Bargaining Outcomes in Terms of Activity and Value.....	221
6.2.1	Activity.....	223
6.2.2	Value.....	225
6.3	Utilization of Bargaining Power and Its Impact on the Bargaining Codes.....	228
6.3.1	Transnistria’s Resistance to Russian Troop Withdrawal.....	233
6.3.2	Transnistria’s Non-Belligerency in the Russian Invasion of Ukraine.....	235
6.3.3	Abkhazia’s Negotiations on the Treaty of Alliance and Strategic Partnership.....	237
6.3.4	The Transfer of the State Dacha in Pitsunda to Russian Authorities.....	239
6.3.5	The Bzhanian Administration’s Approval of the 2024 Investment Agreement.....	241
6.4	Conclusion.....	242
	Bibliography.....	251
	Acknowledgments.....	291